

Premature ejaculation...Resolved a long time ago!

My name is Sylvain Dubois, inventor of COLT. I started experimenting sexually in 1976. I would ejaculate prematurely, before I could count to 3! I didn't know that to ejaculate fast was only natural. For thousands of years, to ejaculate rapidly was a question of survival, linked to the reproduction of the species... and I believe many among us owe our lives to premature ejaculation, so many thanks to all the impetuous fathers out there, we wouldn't be here without you! This being said, sex is much more than mere reproduction. Sex is about sharing and having fun, and to have control over his ejaculation gives a man a significant advantage. There are many ways to attain this: therapy, control techniques... and then COLT.

I remember that summer night in 1976... A salesman in a sex shop proposed me a product very similar to COLT. That night, alone with my girlfriend at my parents' summer house, I tried this product... What a surprise! I went several minutes without ejaculating, and this experience really broadened my sexual horizons. It gave me confidence, I started to relax; for the first time in my life, I wasn't a premature ejaculator!! A year later, I was working in the erotic trade, and I still am.

Thanks to cutting-edge production techniques, COLT is greater today than it ever was. With its improved formula which provides even results, you get all the pleasure and make it last longer! It works every time, I guarantee it. It makes your life, and mine! Oh so much easier!

Ejaculation....rapid or not?

Yes many men reach orgasm quickly, about 70% of them ejaculate so called fast. Nature makes things very well, after all, the human race could have never generated so much births without this feature. So rapid ejaculation is mainly a natural state. ... But!

When can we consider that ejaculation is too fast and when would be the perfect time?

This can vary greatly depending on the age, culture or even personal needs. Judging though, from what is usually conveyed in industrialized countries, we can say that an ejaculation occurring almost immediately to about five minutes after penetration, is considered rapid (*see chart A). However, between ten and thirty minutes, again according to the standards of industrialized countries, will be considered an ideal length before ejaculation (*see chart B).

God created man and Colt made them equal!

Every man using Colt will do best in lovemaking. Say goodbye to anxiety and begin to focus on one another rather than worrying about ejaculating supposedly too fast or not. Colt gives you this control that provides more confidence.

Colt is compatible with the latex condom

To help you maintain a good sexual health...

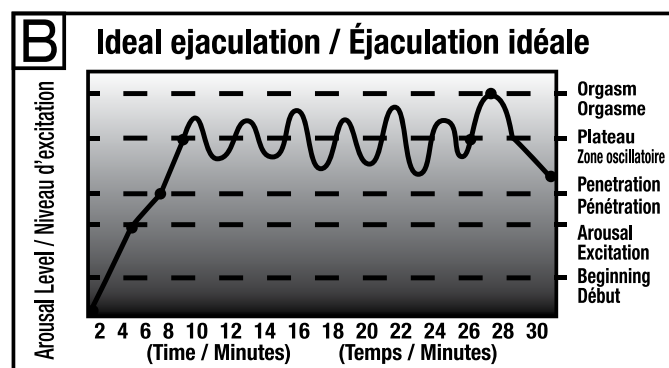

Read how to use the condom as safely as possible!

The worst enemy of condoms is dryness, so you need to moist it before use. So here is a reminder for the proper use of condoms;

- 1- Better to use a lubricated condom, but even lubricated, it is always wise to use a water base lubricant at the same time, so please still do the following 2 and 3;
- 2- Put a few drops inside the condom before unfolding it.
- 3- Put a few drops on the outside of the condom once unfolded.

We thank you for your confidence!
